

Dear FCC:

I have been notified and alarmed by the actions taken by the NAB in Washington, specifically concerning the proposed limitation on XM's traffic and weather channels!

I pay for XM and enjoy this new service, and for a good reason:
I go through Atlanta on a frequent basis. Anyone knows how murderous the traffic can be. With XM's traffic channel, I know FAR in advance which routes should be avoided. No FM or AM station that I'm aware of has the wattage to notify me of the current traffic and weather conditions while I'm still 1 1/2 hours away.

I also find the weather channels beneficial. I enjoy the fact that I have access to the information I need with a touch of button; there's no waiting for the top of the hour!

In fact, my only complaint about XMs new channels is that they don't yet have traffic and weather information for MY home town!

It's completely absurd that the NAB is lobbying against these new amenities. I am paying for the better service and information I recieve.

Sincerely,
Angie Hudson
